DIRECTOR'S MESSAGE

Éy swáyel Seabird Island Community,

Welcome to the latest edition of Toti:lt q'ep tset! As the long days of summer gave way to the first cool mornings of fall, our Education Department was alive with new beginnings, and it's a joy to share them with you.

Seabird College opened its doors to four new programs this season: Welding Foundations, Adult Dogwood and Upgrading, Carpentry Level 1 with UFV, and Medical Office Assistant and Dental Receptionist. Each one opens a pathway to meaningful work, right here at home and surrounded by the support of our community.

At Lalme' Iwesawtexw, more than 200 people filled our back-to-school BBQ and jam-out with food, drumming, and laughter. Land-based learning is back every Wednesday at Lalme' Iwesawtexw, and our students carried our songs proudly along the Agassiz Fall Fair Parade route. We were also honoured to welcome Squiala school to learn, reflect, and celebrate together for Truth and Reconciliation.

Our Youth Program kept young people connected all summer through the Summer Youth Work Experience Program, a variety of outings, volunteering, a Canoe Journey and a brand-new Jiu Jitsu program.

Our Employment team walked alongside 149 community members, and 11 of them stepped into new jobs. Ernest Harry's story reminds us of what is possible when we support one another. His journey began with a summer youth job and led him all the way to a cook's position at Seabird College. Stories like his are why we do this work.

To our students, families, clients, staff, Elders and partners: thank you for everything you bring to our shared learning journey. We hope you'll find something in these pages that makes you proud, and maybe something that inspires your own next step.

Ts'íthomé,
Barbara White

Safety & Connection

All summer long, our Youth & Young Adults Connections Specialist made time for one-on-one conversations with youth as they prepared for end-of-summer changes. Together, they connected youth with the programs, resources and supports they need to keep moving forward with confidence. These conversations built trust and helped every young person know they have people in their corner.

One of the season's brightest moments was Seabird Pride. Our Specialist connected with so many youth in a joyful, welcoming and affirming space, and it was a true celebration of community.

Six youth also took part in a Canoe Journey, a powerful cultural experience. Paddling together, they deepened their connection to tradition and to one another and found healing and growth along the way.

Canoeing on Mariah Slough

Jiu Jitsu

This July, youth stepped onto the mats for our new Jiu Jitsu program, led by instructor Eric of Zen Martial Arts & Fitness. Interest has been fantastic. With sessions running twice a month, Eric sees so much potential that he recommends moving to twice a week to help youth build skills and consistency. Next, we hope to grow the program into Youth Self-Defense, helping youth build confidence, stay safe and have fun staying active.

Volunteering

Our youth showed their big hearts this summer by giving back to the community:

- Community Hamper Program. In July, one youth volunteered with the hamper program, discovering the pride that comes from helping others.
- Emergency Operations Centre (EOC) Station. When the Brunswick Creek, Ainslie Creek and Anderson wildfires burned nearby in July, Seabird Island opened its gym to evacuees, and three to five youth pitched in at the EOC station there. On the first Saturday, three youth kept the kitchen humming and the food table stocked. The following Wednesday, they made thank-you signs for the firefighters, hung them along the front field fence, and had the chance to chat with the firefighters themselves.
- Back-to-School Carnival. Two youth volunteered at the carnival, helping with setup, cleanup and the children's activity stations.

We raise our hands to these young people for showing up for their community.

Summer Outings

Our two big summer outings were all about fun, with a few life lessons along the way. Each youth received $75 to budget for their own food, games and activities for the day. Along with plenty of laughs, the outings helped youth:

- Practise responsibility and good decision-making
- Build money-management and budgeting skills
- Make new friends and lasting summer memories

Playland (July): 15 youth enjoyed a thrill-filled day at Playland.

Castle Fun Park (August): 10 youth took on Castle Fun Park.

Back to School!

With school back in session, our Wednesday drop-in nights are buzzing again, with up to 15 youth joining us. We're also happy to welcome the new school counsellor, Christina Nuttall, who will be with us on Saturdays. She's a wonderful addition for our youth.

In September, the youth team was proud to support Community Wellness and Harm Reduction at the Agassiz Fall Fair and offered rides to and from the fair for anyone who needed one. It was a fantastic turnout, and an honour to be there for our youth. We also hosted a Child and Family Jurisdiction meeting during a drop-in night, where five youth shared their voices.

Summer in Review

The Seabird Island Employment Office team had an incredibly busy and rewarding season. From July to September, we were out in the community, attending events, hosting clinics and supporting programs that help community members thrive. Here's a look back at what we accomplished together.

Back-to-School Carnival

It was a pleasure to see so many smiling faces at this year's Back-to-School Carnival. Our information booth was a great chance to connect with students and families as they got ready for a new school year.

Social Insurance Number (SIN) Clinic

On the same day as the carnival, we hosted a SIN Clinic at the Employment Services Office. We were glad to help community members with Canada Pension Plan (CPP), Old Age Security (OAS) and Guaranteed Income Supplement (GIS) applications, and to help retrieve SINs.

Our next Service Canada Clinic is on October 7, 2026. Drop by.

Community Fish Distribution

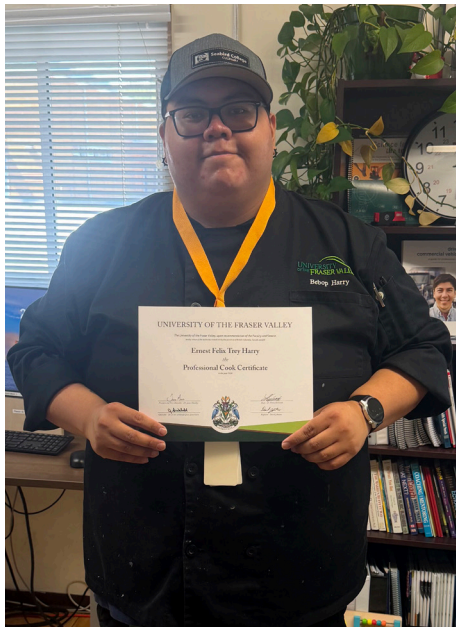

Our team loved rolling up our sleeves for the annual fish canning and freezer-packing distribution at Mill Hall. There's something special about preserving food together, side by side with staff from across the Band Office.

Ernest Harry's Journey

Every journey starts with a first step. For Ernest Harry, that step was a Youth Summer Employment program with Seabird Island Employment Services. By the end of that summer, Ernest knew exactly what he wanted to be: a cook.

In his final year at Seabird Community School, Ernest joined a Trades Sampler that gave him a hands-on taste of life in a professional kitchen. After graduating, he worked with Employment Services to apply for SASET-funded Long-Term Training and completed a three-month Culinary Arts Pre-Trades program. He excelled, and he was more certain than ever that he had found his calling.

With support from Seabird's Post-Secondary Funding Program and Employment Services, Ernest enrolled in the 18-month Cook Levels 1 & 2 program at the University of the Fraser Valley (UFV), and he completed it successfully.

Ernest UFV Professional Cook

After graduation, Ernest returned to Employment Services for help with his job search. Today, he's proud to be working at Seabird College as a Journeyman Cook. Our hands go up to you, Ernest. Your journey shows what's possible when determination meets community support.

Inspiring Our Youth

This summer, we teamed up with Pre-Employment Supports and Seabird College to connect with community youth and fill seats in two exciting programs:

- Summer Youth Work Experience. Two groups of youth (ages 12–15 and 16–18) joined a fun, hands-on two-week program. They built real skills, learned about the world of work and gained experience they can put on a résumé.
- Youth Trades Discovery Camp. A new camp for youth ages 11–14, held in the Seabird College shop. Read all about it in the College section.

Ernest Obtaining Learner's Licence

Driving School Celebrations!

A huge congratulations to two community members who worked hard to earn their independence on the road:

- In July, one community member passed their knowledge test and earned their Class 7L licence.
- In September, another passed their road test and moved up to their Class 7N licence.

Well done, and congratulations to you both.

Get Behind the Wheel

Seabird Driving School is open to anyone attending Seabird Community School, Seabird College or the Pre-Employment Supports Program, and to all Seabird Island Band community members. We'll help you with theory lessons and in-car road lessons, and we'll even drive you to your written and road tests. Eligible participants can also get help paying licence fees.

Did you know? Top 5 reasons to get your driver's licence:

1. Independence & Freedom — Go where you want, when you want, without relying on rides or bus schedules
2. Career Opportunities — Many employers need staff with a valid licence for driving, commuting or running errands
3. Valid Identification — Your licence is accepted photo ID for banking, travelling and entering venues
4. Convenience — Errands, grocery runs and moving your things get so much easier
5. Freedom to explore — Road trips, visiting friends and heading home on your own schedule

Labour Pool

The Seabird Island Labour Pool Program is all about gaining skills, building community connections and opening doors to future careers. We're proud to share that in September, one of our Labour Pool workers moved into a full-time position right here at the Band Office. Our hands go up to them for their hard work and success.

Join the Community Labour Pool Program!

As a Labour Pool member, you'll be called on to help with a variety of tasks across Seabird Island Band departments. It's a great way to gain work experience, learn from mentors and earn extra income. Apply at Employment Services at Seabird College, or online at www.seabirdisland.bamboohr.com/careers/605.

Pre-Employment Supports

SIB's Pre-Employment Support Program (PESP) helps community members get ready for work through one-on-one support, practical training and hands-on experience. Here's what this season looked like.

What the numbers tell us

- 149 community members were supported by PESP this quarter. Our team walked alongside each of them as they prepared for and searched for work.
- 11 participants stepped into new jobs and completed the program. Each one is a step toward steady income and greater independence for a family in our community.
- 38 training seats were filled across four in-house courses: Skills for Success (12), Enbridge Expansion Project Training (10), WCC Building Service Worker (10) and WCC Safe Lifting (6). These courses teach the job-specific and safety skills employers look for, so participants are ready when opportunities open up, including on local projects like the Enbridge expansion.
- 25 youth earned a paycheque this summer through four youth employment programs: SASET (10), SIB (10), Service Canada (3) and FNESC (2). For many young people, a summer job is their first real work experience, building skills and connections that last long after summer ends.

Income Assistance

Seabird Island Band's On-Reserve Income Assistance (IA) program offers short-term support when it's needed most. We encourage clients to take steps toward greater independence through skills training, employment-readiness activities and Seabird College courses, and we're here to help along the way.

Who We Support

This quarter, Income Assistance supported 129 clients. Here's what that looks like:

- About half (61) are able to work. That's why IA connects clients with training, employment programs and Seabird College courses. With the right support, many can move into a job.
- More than a third (46) live with a disability. For these community members, IA provides steady, reliable support.
- 20 face several barriers to work at the same time. When someone is managing more than one challenge at once, progress can take longer, and support is tailored to each person.
- The remaining 2 are children being cared for by relatives or other caregivers outside their parents' home. IA helps cover the cost of their care.

9 clients stepped off Income Assistance and into jobs this quarter. Each one is a real step toward independence, and we congratulate them.

Shaping Our Own Income Assistance Policy. Seabird Island Band is developing its own Income Assistance policy, one that reflects the needs, culture and values of our community. We want to hear from you. We'll share updates every quarter, and surveys asking for your input are coming soon.

WE HAVE MOVED!

You'll now find our Income Assistance and Pre-Employment Support Program offices at Mill Hall. Come say hello.

Four New Programs

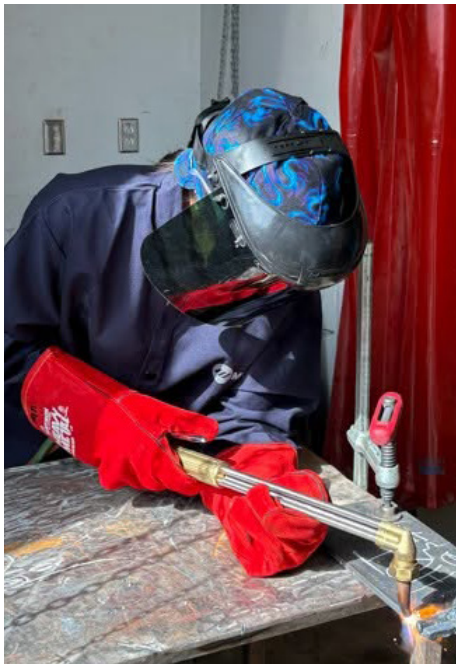

The new academic year has begun with fresh energy across the college. Four programs opened their doors this season, and our classrooms (and our new welding shop) are buzzing with activity.

Welding trailer

Welding Foundations

Have you spotted the large trailer beside the high school? It's the temporary home of our Welding Foundations program, which welcomed its very first group of students in late August. Students are learning MIG and stick welding, metal preparation, cutting and finishing, and how to read blueprints and project specifications. With hands-on training and expert instruction, they're building the skills for a strong career in the welding industry.

Welding - September 2026

Adult Dogwood and Upgrading

Classes kicked off on September 14, with more than 20 students enrolled in courses including English First Peoples, Mathematics and Trades Sampler. Earning a Dogwood is a big step that opens doors to further education, training and employment. We're cheering on every one of these learners as they work toward their goals.

Adult Dogwood Class of 2026

Adult Dogwood Class of 2026

Carpentry Level 1

In partnership with the University of the Fraser Valley (UFV), a large group of students began Carpentry Level 1 on September 21 at UFV's Chilliwack campus. They'll learn to read construction drawings, lay out sites and buildings, and build concrete formwork, framing and finishing. Skilled trades are in high demand for housing and infrastructure across the region, and these students are building toward rewarding careers.

Medical Office Assistant and Dental Receptionist

Rounding out a busy September, this program began on September 28. Students will learn how to keep medical and dental offices running smoothly, including medical billing and coding, patient records, scheduling and electronic health records. Healthcare is a growing field full of opportunity. It's also a field where Indigenous voices are needed, and we're proud to help more of our people build careers in it.

Culinary Class celebration

On September 25, our Culinary Class students celebrated a job well done catering for Seabird Island Band with a special meal out at Frankie's Italian in Chilliwack. Congratulations, chefs. You earned it.

Trades Discovery Camp

From August 4 to 7, the college welcomed a group of budding builders to our first-ever Youth Trades Discovery Camp, in partnership with Enbridge and with support from Seabird Employment Services. Youth ages 11 to 14 tried their hands at a variety of trades and built projects to take home and proudly show their families. The camp sparked curiosity about the skilled trades and showed young people that learning practical skills can be a whole lot of fun.

Student Well-Being

We know it's hard to learn on an empty stomach. That's why Seabird College serves free breakfast and lunch to all students every school day. Our meals are nutritious and made with locally sourced ingredients whenever possible. Mornings can be hectic, and packing a lunch isn't always easy, so we've got you covered. Learning is easier when you're well fed.

Our student services team is here to support your well-being and success in culturally grounded ways. Counselling is available by appointment for anyone looking for guidance or someone to talk to. Our cultural supports celebrate who you are and help you feel at home in our college community.

Cooking Competition

Seabird College's first culinary class, Professional Cook 1, wrapped up their program with a friendly cooking competition with Western Community College (WCC) hospitality students. Culinary Lead, Chef Mitchell Williams, wanted to offer students an opportunity to connect with wider industry networks, build their confidence and celebrate the strides they made throughout the program. Mitchell collaborated with WCC's hospitality program on this endeavour, hosting the Cooking Competition right here at Seabird College on October 1st, 2026.

The students prepared three courses (appetizer, main and dessert) using three key ingredients: smoked salmon, bannock and peaches.
The winners were Kayden Noseworthy and Baljinder Singh, their cucumber and salmon mousse canapés and roasted peach and vanilla ice cream dessert achieved high scores with the judges!

Staff News

Congratulations, Charnelle George

We're delighted to share that Charnelle George has been seconded to the role of Acting Community Hub Team Lead, effective September 21.

In this role, Charnelle will lead the planning to establish Mill Hall as a central hub for community services. She'll bring partners together, coordinate resources and help shape a service model built around our community's needs. Charnelle will spend four days a week on the Hub project and one day a week with us at the college. We can't wait to see what she builds.

Achieving Life Goals

By Zack Joe, Cultural Education and Connections Specialist

I recently had the opportunity to sing the Canadian national anthem at a Chilliwack Chiefs hockey game, crossing off a goal on my bucket list. Growing up, I spent many hours with our Papa Archie watching hockey games, memories I will always hold close. I believe that's what planted the seed that inspired me to put my name forward to sing for the Chiefs.

I'm by no means a singer, and I have no previous singing experience. That said, anyone who has worked alongside me in the welding world knows I'd always break into random songs during our shift! I've worked for Seabird Island Band for almost two years now, and in that time I've had the chance to grow my public speaking skills through my work with the school and college. My role as Cultural Education and Connections Specialist has also helped build the confidence I needed to cross off something that has been on my bucket list for as long as I can remember.

I'm sharing this in the hope that it encourages you to follow your dreams and start crossing items off your own bucket list. Whether this was a one-time thing or the start of something more with the Chiefs, I'm truly grateful for every opportunity, even as a welder, to get comfortable singing in public (whether it was horrible or not). I'm also grateful for the leadership opportunities I've had here in our community, which gave me the confidence to reach out to the Chiefs in the first place. I hope my story inspires you to go after your own goals.

Thank you, Zack Joe

BBQ and Jam-Out

On September 17, we welcomed families back with our annual Back-to-School BBQ. It's always one of our favourite nights of the year, a chance to meet new and returning families, share a meal and catch up in a relaxed, friendly way.

This year, we added something special: a jam-out. In partnership with Seabird's Health Department, we invited drummers to join us, and students, staff and families drummed and sang together until about 8:00 p.m. It was a beautiful way to start the year.

More than 200 people came out to celebrate, some travelling all the way from Vancouver. Thank you to everyone who joined us. We're already looking forward to the next one.

Welcome Back Jam Out

Welcome Back BBQ

Land-Based Learning

Land-based learning is back. Starting September 16, students head out on the land every Wednesday, all the way through to June. In just the first two weeks, our teachers have worked together to bring classroom lessons to life, helping students see how what they learn connects to their everyday lives.

Our culture team has made Wednesdays extra meaningful with beading, regalia-making workshops and drumming practice. We were honoured to have Elders join us to speak with students about drumming and the responsibility of carrying the drum.

Students also got creative preparing for the Fall Fair Parade: decorating the float, making candy bags and keychains, and painting fish to bring the float to life.

K4 and K5 students digging in the dirt - land based learning

Fall Fair Parade

On Saturday, September 19, Seabird Island Band joined the annual Agassiz Fall Fair Parade with a float full of pride. Community members, Elders, school staff and students rode the float, handed out candy, and drummed and sang the entire parade route.

About 35 people came together to make the day a success. The parade is a wonderful way to spread joy in the wider community and to show everyone the cultural leadership our students grow here at school. Thank you to all who took part.

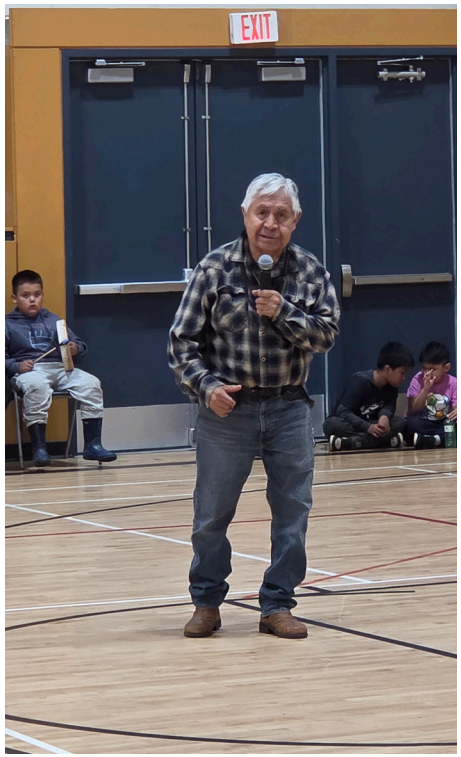

Fall Fair Parade

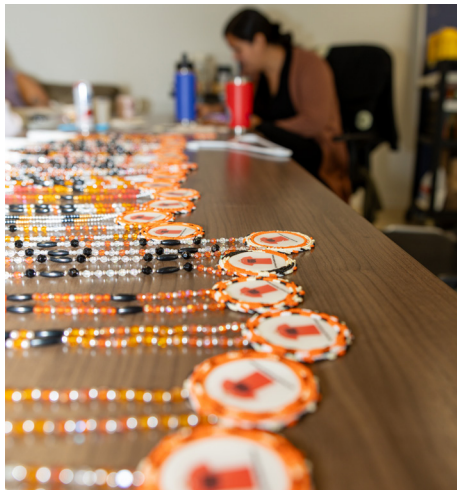

Truth and Reconciliation

On Wednesday, September 23, we were honoured to welcome students from Squiala school for a Truth and Reconciliation gathering on our land-based day. In the morning, our guests joined our classes out on the land, some with our Grade 1/2 classes and others with our Grade 5/6 classes.

After lunch, everyone came together in the gym. Speakers shared why it matters for all young people to learn this history, and to learn their own traditions and cultural teachings. Our school Elder, Yummo, generously shared stories of his time in residential school. We hold his words with deep respect. The day closed with a jam-out, as both schools celebrated their culture together.

Terry Fox Run

On September 24, our school laced up for the annual Terry Fox Run. Students first learned about Terry Fox, his message of hope and his lasting legacy. Then everyone was invited to walk, jog or run around the track behind the high school. Every participant was entered in a draw for Chilliwack Chiefs tickets, with a prize for the most laps too. One amazing student completed 20 laps! Terry would be proud.
